

Dear Members of the Admission Committee,

I am writing to express my sincere interest in pursuing a Master's degree in Environmental Engineering at Polytechnic Marche, driven by my passion for sustainable, ecologically conscious design and my educational foundation in Architecture from Addis Ababa Science and Technology University.

My academic journey in Architecture has fostered in me a profound appreciation for the intersection of human habitats and environmental sustainability. Throughout my studies, I have continuously sought to integrate principles of environmental responsibility and resource efficiency into my architectural projects, envisioning spaces that harmonize with their surroundings and minimize environmental impact. It is this aptitude for sustainable design and my fervent commitment to environmental stewardship that propels my aspiration to transition into the field of Environmental Engineering.

Polytechnic Marche's esteemed program in Environmental Engineering has captured my interest due to its emphasis on fostering innovative solutions to complex environmental challenges. The university's commitment to interdisciplinary collaboration and practical application closely aligns with my own academic and professional pursuits. I am eager to leverage my architectural expertise to contribute meaningfully to the development of cutting-edge environmental technologies and sustainable infrastructure that addresses the pressing ecological and societal needs of our time.

By enrolling in the Master's program at Polytechnic Marche, I am enthusiastic about the opportunity to merge my architectural insights with the comprehensive knowledge and skills offered in environmental engineering, enabling me to make substantial contributions to the field. With the support of esteemed faculty and the rich academic offerings of Polytechnic Marche, I aspire to deepen my understanding of environmental systems, sustainable design methodologies, and the integration of ecological principles into engineering practice.

I am genuinely grateful for your consideration of my application and am eagerly looking forward to the possibility of contributing to the esteemed academic and research community at Polytechnic Marche.

Warm regards,

Liben Solomon
