To whom so ever it may concern

I am privilege to write in support of our student, Liben Solomon. I have had a pleasure of knowing Liben for three years.

Liben is humble and good performing student. His achievement in doing research was exemplary. He was able to successfully complete multiple tasks with favorable results despite deadline pressure. For science and technology fairs, he developed various and remarkable creative projects to the school and outside community. Liben not only headed the projects, he ensured their successful presentations by demonstrating strong leadership abilities. He was also participating in ICT, design and decor clubs. Besides, I have been impressed with his ability and active involvement in student's graduation committee.
