

Dear Admissions Committee of the University of Cassino and Southern Lazio,

I am Nebyu Daniel, and it is with great enthusiasm that I submit my application for the Economics and Business course at your prestigious university. My academic journey and passion for economics have led me to seek an institution where I can further my education and pursue my career aspirations, and I am confident that the University of Cassino and Southern Lazio is the perfect place for me to do so.

Throughout my high school years, I have excelled in my studies, particularly in economics, achieving outstanding grades that reflect my dedication and interest in the subject. Beyond the classroom, I have immersed myself in the world of economics through extensive reading and attending relevant lectures, which has only deepened my understanding and eagerness to learn more.

My active participation in various economics competitions has sharpened my analytical and critical thinking abilities, skills that I am eager to refine further under the guidance of your esteemed faculty. I am convinced that the comprehensive curriculum and the dynamic academic environment at the University of Cassino and Southern Lazio will equip me with the knowledge and expertise required to make a significant contribution to the field of economics.

In closing, I am excited about the opportunity to join the Economics and Business course and to engage with the vibrant academic and social community at the University of Cassino and Southern Lazio. I appreciate your consideration of my application and eagerly await the possibility of contributing to and learning from such a distinguished institution.

Sincerely,

Nebyu Daniel