To whom it may concern

I am pleased to write this recommendation letter in the support of Mr. Mehariw Tadege Belay of my student starting from 2016 G.C academic years in faculty of chemical and food engineering at Bahir Dar Institute of Technology.

I have known him for about five years when he was in the faculty of chemical and food engineering. He was active participant and interactive student both in theoretical and practical class and attends class regularly. I also taught him the course introduction to biochemical engineering and his result was remarkable. He impressed me a lot with his dedication, commitment and eagerness to learn while carrying out his study.

On a personal level, he has pleasant personality and the ability to work collaboratively with his group members. His academic preparation, coupled with his strong motivation and conscientious effort to develop him professionally, will be valuable assets for his future carrier. Hence, I recommended him to your program, in his field of interest at your esteemed organization. If you have any questions or need further information, please do not hesitate to contact me.

With regards
